

Pharrell and Adidas joined efforts to pay tribute to the incredible sport of running with the Adidas SolarHU Glide silhouette. For the collection, the Pharrell looked to Africa for inspiration, where the culture is vibrant, and running is a state of meditation. This women's Adidas SolarHU Glide is primarily black and white, with pops of bright purple, cyan, red, and yellow. Equipped with Boost technology, the Adidas running sneaker has a large Hu stamp on the top of the foot.

The Alexander Wang x adidas Turnout Trainer launched in 2018 as part of a collection that perfectly combines two forward-thinking brands. This Adidas training sneaker is designed to intentionally include production errors, including exposed seams and internal company product data peeking through the mesh upper. The Alexander Wang x adidas Turnout Trainer features a combination of black, white, and orange. The traction pattern on the durable outsoles creeps up into the shoe's midsole in unexpected ways for a distinct look.

The Nike Air Huarache Run Premium women's shoe combines functionality and fashion in an elegant way. Slightly monochromatic in shades of violet and greyish purple, this Nike performance running sneaker has a semi-metallic sheen on the faded pattern of the overlays that perfectly compliment a solid purple neoprene upper. The Nike Air Huarache Run Premium has a padded tongue for added comfort and a heel strap for additional support with every stride.

The Nike Dunk Low grade school is ready for Halloween. Black and orange take centerstage on this "Halloween" Dunk. White is used on the base while black accents the overlays, outsole, and sockliner trim. Orange takes over the laces, Swoosh and branding, while an embroidered Jack-o-lantern on the lateral side adds a spooky detail.

The Oyster Holdings x adidas 350 comes from a perfectly-paired partnership between the sneaker brand and travel-inspired fashion label. The Los-Angeles based label makes its worldly presence known on the adidas lifestyle sneaker with a tonal aesthetic. Dressed in red, the upper is created with smooth leather and textile Three-Stripes. Tonal branding hits the tongue while the adidas 350 and trefoil logos get fancy in gold. The Oyster Holdings x adidas 350 is finished with a gum outsole with a grooved chevron bottom.
